Background

- The 2019 update of the Integrated Delivery Schedule (IDS) was discussed at the June 20, 2019 joint Working Group (WG)/Science Coordination Group (SCG) meeting.
- The US Army Corps of Engineers formally requested WG support for conducting a Task Force sponsored public workshop on the updated IDS.
- The Working Group voted unanimously to provide the requested support to the Corps and the WG Chair subsequently requested that the Task Force sponsor the workshop.

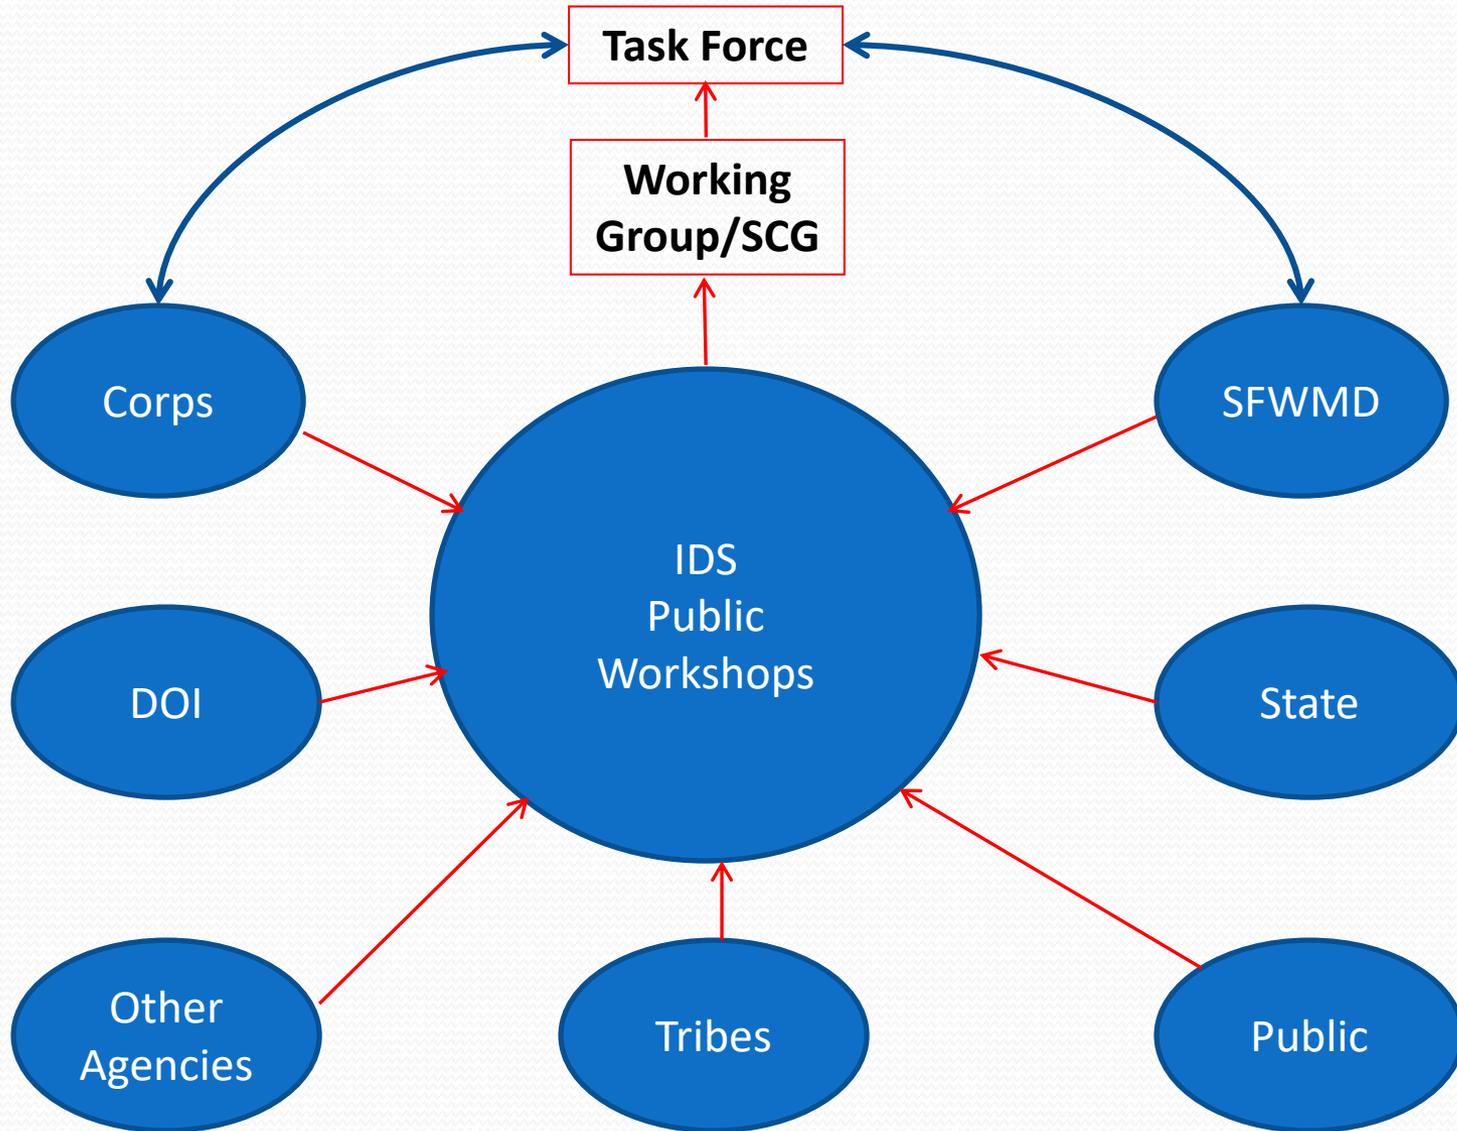

Background

- The Task Force voted and approved holding a single public workshop on the 2019 IDS update.
- The Task Force has a history of coordination and public engagement for the IDS.
- The Task Force helped coordinate the development of the initial IDS in 2008 and the 2011 update, as well as holding a series of public workshops for the 2015 update.
- These workshops have followed the model established by the Central Everglades Planning Project (CEPP) WG Sponsored Public Workshops (2011-2013).

Workshop Format

- This workshop is designed to:
 - Add value for the public and agencies involved in Everglades restoration.
 - Provide planning and technical information to the public.
 - Facilitate two-way dialogue between the public and staff.
